

You want me in brown

reflections on working with Dartmouth on equity and inclusion

Ruiz Alberto

You want me in brown
But eggshell appears to define
The limits of your palette

You want to hear my perspective
But you forget that your comfort
Is more important to you
Than inclusion ever will